

Tim Berners-Lee with the original design for the web and the NeXT Cube workstation that ran the first incarnation of the World Wide Web.